HOOVER IS DESTINED TO BE NEXT NOMINEE

BREAK IN FIGHT AGAINST HIM CAME LAST NIGHT

WORD REACHES PARTY LEADERS THAT COOLIDGE WILL NOT RUN

PRESIDENT WILL NOT ACCEPT
THE NOMINATION IF OFFERED HIM

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Kansas City, June 12.—Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover is destined to be made the republican presidential nominee at the national convention which opens here today.

The break in the fight against him came last night after word, in some mysterious way, reached party leaders here that President Coolidge would not accept the nomination if offered.

Immediately a series of hotel room conferences began which lasted until the early hours this morning.

The result was a decision to put Hoover over as early as possible when the convention balloting starts probably Thursday.

Pennsylvania gave the final push that put Hoover in line for the party's highest honor.

Secretary Mellon arrived yesterday afternoon, uncertain apparently, what to do.

Already Hoover had brought his own strength up to about 500 delegates. He needs 545 to win the nomination. Then the Mellon group went into conference. Shortly after midnight they broke up and announced Pennsylvania would throw part of its 79 votes to Hoover.

In this conference were the Mellons, Andrew W., and his nephew, W. L., the Pennsylvania republican state chairman; Senator George Moses of New Hampshire, who is slated to be the permanent chairman of the platform committee; Senator Reed Smoot, chairman of the platform committee; Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, one of the anti-Hoover candidates, and many others who went in and out during the night.

Thus, apparently, Hoover is headed toward nomination victory.

When the news of Pennsylvania's break came last night, the anti-Hoover allies frantically called a conference.

Efforts were made to agree upon a compromise candidate behind which the entire anti-Hoover strength could be mobilized. Senator Curfiss was discussed as the most logical compromise but no agreement was reached.

But in another room at the Muehlebach hotel the Mellons were holding conference. Representatives went back and forth from the Mellon suite to that of the anti-Hoover allies on the floor below. Frantic efforts were made to persuade Secretary Mellon to withhold his support from Hoover and give the allies a chance to demonstrate their strength. Mellon debated but decided in favor of Hoover.

There are the bare facts of what transpired in the night and early hours this morning.

The scene in the hotel room where the presidential nominee was being selected was as simple as that of a group of business men talking out a real estate deal. Occasional laughter floated out into the silent corridor. Sometimes a high-pitched voice in argument pierced the midnight stillness. But, considering everything, the conference was a prosaic affair, as devoid of sensation as the clucking of six men over a carload of potatoes.

There is reason to believe that powerful influences were at work behind the men in that little hotel room conference to force a prompt end to the suspense and growing bitterness over the party nomination.

Word had reached here that Wall Street was becoming uneasy over the situation developing here. Stocks suffered a drop. One of the Morgan partners, Thomas Cochrane, was reported to be in the city with a private car. One Wall Street operator here said pressure from New York was growing insistent that the republican party pull itself together here lest the stock market, in which millions of citizens all over the country are interested, suffer.

TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR RACE MAY DEVELOP SOON

MISS MABEL BOLL ON THE WAY FROM NEW YORK IN THE
"COLUMBIA"

MISS EARHART'S "FRIENDSHIP"
IN TREPASSY BAY WAITING TO TAKE OFF

St. Johns, N. F., June 12.—(UP)—With Miss Mabel Boll on the way from New York in the Columbia, and Miss Earhart's Friendship in Trepassy Bay waiting to take off for England, perfect flying weather today revived chances of a trans-Atlantic air race.

To the winner of such a race would go the honor of having been the first woman to fly the Atlantic.

At 7:30 A. M. EST, a strong west to northwest wind was blowing, to carry an east-bound plane on its way. No better weather could be desired for an eastward flight, and the probabilities were that in this area at least the good weather would continue indefinitely.

Neither Miss Earhart nor Wilmer Stultz, her co-pilot, showed signs of excitement when the United Press correspondent told them of the Columbia's start.

But there were signs of renewed activity around the Friendship soon afterward, and the plane was prepared for a possible take-off at any time.

Weather conditions over the eastern Atlantic were not encouraging and it seemed possible the start would be postponed until there was a change.

Old Orchard, Me., June 12.—Long overdue here Miss Mabel Boll in the trans-Atlantic monoplane, Columbia, which hopped off early today from Roosevelt Field was believed to have continued her flight further northward, possibly in Newfoundland.

Many persons were still at the beach landing place here in hopes the Columbia would make this its first stop on the attempted trans-Atlantic flight.

Pennsylvania. Among the assistant secretaries are: P. R. Baldrige, Iowa; Frances M. Kaupert, Wisconsin; and Jean Hitchcock, Minnesota.

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—The republican national convention opened here today in a wave of harmony to nominate for president before the week-end Herbert Hoover of California.

What had threatened to be bitter warfare had switched overnight to a peace fest, and as the thousands surged into convention hall with its banners and bands, the word on every lip was "Hoover."

As the tides of strife had swept away from the night battlefield just so torrents of rain that opened the day had passed, giving way to a humidity wave that baked the thousands who jammed into the historic structure that had housed political battles of other days.

The forenoon had witnessed some scrambling for the Hoover band wagon; and when the thousands had crushed into the hall, the decision was already known though the voting was yet to come.

It was 11:03 A. M. when Chairman Butler of the republican national committee rapped for order.

Confidence that the republican party and the people will support the candidates selected here was voiced by Butler in calling the convention to order.

The delegates and alternates were in their places promptly but the spectators' seats were only half filled when Butler banged his gavel and called for order.

CAPT. CARRANZA FORCED DOWN BY FOG ON FLIGHT

OCCURRED ON WASHINGTON-ATLANTA AIR MAIL ROUTE

FOGGY CONDITIONS EXTENDED SEVERAL HUNDRED MILES SOUTH

Washington, June 12.—(UP)—Captain Emilio Carranza, Mexican airman, was forced down by fog near light number 25 of the Washington-Atlanta air mail route. It was officially announced by Assistant Secretary of Commerce William T. McCracken today.

Word of Carranza's forced landing was received at Bolling Field shortly before dawn as preparations were being made to welcome the aviator.

By 6 A. M. an honor guard of cavalry and army band had arrived at the field and troops were preparing to handle expected crowds.

Reports received here indicated that foggy conditions extended several hundred miles south and had been especially severe in North Carolina. Visibility was only fair at Bolling Field and there was a threat of rain.

Carranza traveled 1,745 miles in approximately 18 hours and 35 minutes, aviation officials calculated here, averaging 100 miles an hour up to the time he reached Spartansburg, S. C.

FOUR COUPLES IN GRIM MARATHON DANCE 11 DAYS

Chicago, June 12.—(U.P.)—Visions of prizes floating before their bleared eyes kept four couples still grimly moving about the floor of the Coliseum today, into the eleventh day of a dance marathon.

It isn't dancing, but at least they keep moving more or less in time to music by an almost as weary orchestra. The couples walk about the floor, sometimes arm in arm, sometimes in the established positions of dancing.

The couples are: Walter Gratsky, St. Paul, and Marcella Meadows, Chicago; Frank and Mary Brown, Sioux City, Ia.; Robert Johns and Serena Bergandi, Chicago; James Pedrow and Lois Henry, Pittsburgh.

All the remaining contestants were assured a reward when a fourth prize of $500 was announced yesterday.

ACCIDENT BOARD TO PROBE MISHAPS TO AIRPLANES

Washington, June 12.—(U.P.)—Formation of an accident investigation board to analyze causes of airplane accidents was announced today by the aeronautics branch of the commerce department.

Data on accidents will be studied by the new board with a view to eliminating the most frequent causes of crashes.

HEAVY RAINS BENEFITTING ALL CROPS IN STATE

FELL THROUGHOUT MINNESOTA AND NORTHWEST ON MONDAY

TODAY'S SCHEDULED SHOWERS WILL BRING ALL CROPS TO NORMAL

(By United Press)

Heavy rains which fell throughout Minnesota and the northwest Monday will continue today to do immeasurable good to farm crops and pasture, according to government predictions.

Slight rains last week that followed a two-weeks period of drought helped pastures and grains but were insufficient to insure average yields of small grains, agricultural authorities stated. Today's scheduled showers should bring all crops to normal.

Monday's rains were a general throughout Minnesota and South Dakota. Showers starting in South Dakota first struck Minnesota at 11 A. M. in southern Minnesota a light rain fell most of the day. Fergus Falls reported a steady rain that began late in the afternoon and continued until late evening.

Red Wing and St. Cloud were among the central Minnesota points to report rain.

Senator Hefflin to be at Houston Convention

Washington, June 12.—(UP)—Senator Thomas Hefflin, most articulate of the anti-Smith faction in the democratic party, will be among those present at the Houston convention.

Although not a delegate, Hefflin has decided to attend as a "guest of the party," prepared to take steps to prevent the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president.

Every senator and congressman is entitled to a seat on the convention platform but this courtesy does not privilege them to speak. The oratorical Alabama, however, has no intention merely of sitting.

Hefflin said his plan to attack is not definitely decided but intimated he might try to hire a hall near the convention building where he could orate to southern delegates on Smith and Tammany.

Secretary Mellon wore a Hoover poppy to the convention hall at Kansas City after he had announced Herbert Hoover as his choice.

TORNADO STRIKES M'COOK, NEBRASKA, DOING DAMAGE

WINDSTORM IS FOLLOWED BY A HEAVY BURST OF RAIN

TORNADO FIRST STRUCK AT LUDWELL, KANSAS, TRAVELING NORTHWARD

M'Cook, Neb., June 12.—(UP)—A tornado struck M'Cook last night injuring several persons and causing damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. The windstorm was followed by a heavy rain.

The tornado first struck at Ludell, Kans., and traveled northeastward over M'Cook. It was estimated 100 homes were damaged badly by the wind. One airplane was wrecked completely. Dozens of automobiles were damaged. Part of the roof of the St. Catherine's hospital was blown off. None of the hospital patients were injured.

9 HAVE FROZEN HANDS AND FEET, IN SORE STRAITS

2 PARTIES OF 3 MEN EACH ARE SEARCHING FOR PASSAGE
TO LAND

RADIO OPERATOR WIRELESSES CITTA DI MILANO TODAY

Kings Bay, June 12.—(UP)—General Umberto Nobile and nine of his men, with frozen hands and feet, are at their emergency radio station on the Arctic ice while two parties of three men each of the dirigible Italia's crew are trying separately to reach land. Radio Operator Giuseppe Biagi wirelessly the Citta Di Milano today.

One party of three men had been reported previously as missing.

Today's messages from the Italia's radio station said that General Nobile, the dirigible's commander, had gone out from the radio station with another three men to try to march westward and reach land. General Nobile returned to the radio station, leaving the other three to continue toward North East Land.

While these two parties were out on the ice, the remaining ten—including General Nobile—of the Italia's crew of sixteen were together, at the radio station, awaiting aid.

This party, and three men whom Nobile accompanied at their start for land, represented two groups that when the Italia landed on the ice had been nearly 19 miles apart. General Nobile and six men had been thrown out with the airship's gondola as it touched the ice, while the big dirigible itself kept on, bouncing before the wind.

The rescue ships Braganza and Hobby were stuck in the jammed ice off Spitzbergen today.

The sturdy motor schooner Svalboard, equipped with gasoline and other provisions, including two dog sleds, left Green Harbor today to join the Braganza and then to try to reach Mossel Bay, where Lieut. Luetzow Holm, with his airplane is down, fuelless.

Holm and Captain Riser-Larsen, in charge of all rescue work, are to fly to the Italia crew's position as soon as ice and weather permit.

These facts were established by the Hobby today after constant interchanges of messages with its fellow-rescue ship the Braganza, which is in touch with the Italia's men at their emergency wireless station, erected by Giuseppe Biagi, the airship's radio man.

The gondola in which Nobile and six of the Italia's men crashed on the ice was smashed beyond repair.

In the gondola, however, was a silken tent for emergency purposes. This tent was erected at once beside a small ice cavern. In the tent—with scarcely room to move, the ten men are crowded.

Each storm, of an endless succession, threatens to destroy the thin fabric of the tent.

During the last two days, the ice on which the explorers came down, has drifted 5-8 mile toward North-East Land.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 12.—Confronted by the most severe handicaps, rescue expeditions today prepared to rush relief to the suffering crew of the lost dirigible Italia, now split into three groups in the unknown wastes off North East Land.

Lieutenant Luetzow-Holm, Norwegian flyer, who was among the first to volunteer his services in relief work, is marooned on Mossel Bay, his airplane without fuel. It will be several days before the steamer Braganza can reach him.

Although disconcerted by reports of difficulties encountered by Luetzow-Holm, Captain H. Riser-Larsen planned to fly to the immediate territory where some of the Italia's crew are reported drifting with the ice, suffering from exposure, cold and lack of food. He will carry food and medicants.

TWO BANDITS HOLD UP. ROB JEWELRY STORE

FOUR COUPLES IN GRIM MARATHON DANCE 11 DAYS

Chicago, June 12.—(U.P.)—Visions of prizes floating before their bleared eyes kept four couples still grimly moving about the floor of the Coliseum today, into the eleventh day of a dance marathon.

It isn't dancing, but at least they keep moving more or less in time to music by an almost as weary orchestra. The couples walk about the floor, sometimes arm in arm, sometimes in the established positions of dancing.

The couples are: Walter Grafsky, St. Paul, and Marcella Meadows, Chicago; Frank and Mary Brown, Sioux City, Ia.; Robert Johns and Serena Bergand, Chicago; James Pedrow and Lois Henry, Pittsburgh.

All the remaining contestants were assured a reward when a fourth prize of $500 was announced yesterday.

HEAVY RAINS BENEFITTING ALL CROPS IN STATE

FELL THROUGHOUT MINNESOTA AND NORTHWEST ON MONDAY

TODAY'S SCHEDULED SHOWERS WILL BRING ALL CROPS TO NORMAL

(By United Press)

Heavy rains which fell throughout Minnesota and the northwest Monday will continue today to do immeasurable good to farm crops and pasture, according to government predictions.

Slight rains last week that followed a two-weeks period of drought helped pastures and grains but were insufficient to insure average yields of small grains, agricultural authorities stated. Today's scheduled showers should bring all crops to normal.

Monday's rains were general throughout Minnesota and South Dakota. Showers starting in South Dakota first struck Minnesota at 11 A. M. In southern Minnesota a light rain fell most of the day. Fergus Falls reported a steady rain that began late in the afternoon and continued until late evening.

Red Wing and St. Cloud were among the central Minnesota points to report rain.

Senator Hefflin to be at Houston Convention

Washington, June 12.—(U.P.)—Senator Thomas Hefflin, most articulate of the anti-Smith faction in the democratic party, will be among those present at the Houston convention.

Although not a delegate, Hefflin has decided to attend as a "guest of the party," prepared to take steps to prevent the nomination of Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York for president.

Every senator and congressman is entitled to a seat on the convention platform but this courtesy does not privilege them to speak. The oratorical Alabamian, however, has no intention merely of sitting.

Hefflin said his plan to attack is not definitely decided but intimated he might try to hire a hall near the convention building where he could orate to southern delegates on Smith and Tamm.

Secretary Mellon wore a Hoover poppy to the convention hall at Kansas City after he had announced Herbert Hoover as his choice.

TORNADO STRIKES M'COOK, NEBRASKA, DOING DAMAGE

WINDSTORM IS FOLLOWED BY A HEAVY BURST OF RAIN

TORNADO FIRST STRUCK AT LUDDELL, KANSAS, TRAVELING NORTHWARD

M'Cook, Neb., June 12.—(U.P.)—A tornado struck M'Cook last night injuring several persons and causing damage estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars. The windstorm was followed by a heavy rain.

The tornado first struck at Ludell, Kans., and traveled northeastward over M'Cook. It was estimated 100 homes were damaged badly by the wind. One airplane was wrecked completely. Dozens of automobiles were damaged. Part of the roof of the St. Catherine's hospital was blown off. None of the hospital patients were injured.

9 HAVE FROZEN HANDS AND FEET, IN SORE STRAITS

2 PARTIES OF 3 MEN EACH ARE SEARCHING FOR PASSAGE TO LAND

RADIO OPERATOR WIRELESSSES CITTA DI MILANO TODAY

Kings Bay, June 12.—(U.P.)—General Umberto Nobile and nine of his men, with frozen hands and feet, are at their emergency radio station on the Arctic ice while two parties of three men each of the dirigible Italia's crew are trying separately to reach land. Radio Operator Giuseppe Biagi wirelessed the Citta Di Milano today.

One party of three men had been reported previously as missing.

Today's messages from the Italia's radio station said that General Nobile, the dirigible's commander, had gone out from the radio station with another three men to try to march westward and reach land. General Nobile returned to the radio station, leaving the other three to continue toward North East Land.

While these two parties were out on the ice, the remaining ten—including General Nobile—of the Italia's crew of sixteen were together, at the radio station, awaiting aid.

This party, and three men whom Nobile accompanied at their start for land, represented two groups that when the Italia landed on the ice had been nearly 19 miles apart. General Nobile and six men had been thrown out with the airship's gondola as it touched the ice, while the big dirigible itself kept on, bouncing before the wind.

The rescue ships Braganza and Hobby were stuck in the jammed ice off Spitzbergen today.

The sturdy motor schooner Svalbard, equipped with gasoline and other provisions, including two dog sleds, left Green Harbor today to join the Braganza and then to try to reach Mossel Bay, where Lieut. Luetzow-Holm, with his airplane is down, fuelless.

Holm and Captain Riiser-Larsen, in charge of all rescue work, are to fly to the Italia crew's position as soon as ice and weather permit.

These facts were established by the Hobby today after constant interchanges of messages with its fellow-rescue ship the Braganza, which is in touch with the Italia's men at their emergency wireless station, erected by Giuseppe Biagi, the airship's radio man.

The gondola in which Nobile and six of the Italia's men crashed on the ice was smashed beyond repair.

In the gondola, however, was a silken tent for emergency purposes. This tent was erected at once beside a small ice cavern. In the tent—with scarcely room to move, the ten men are crowded.

Each storm, of an endless succession, threatens to destroy the thin fabric of the tent.

During the last two days, the ice on which the explorers came down, has drifted 5-8 mile toward North-East Land.

Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 12.—Confronted by the most severe handicaps, rescue expeditions today prepared to rush relief to the suffering crew of the lost dirigible Italia, now split into three groups in the unknown wastes off North East Land.

Lieutenant Luetzow-Holm, Norwegian flyer, who was among the first to volunteer his services in relief work, is marooned on Mossel Bay, his airplane without fuel. It will be several days before the steamer Braganza can reach him.

Although disconcerted by reports of difficulties encountered by Luetzow-Holm, Captain H. Riiser-Larsen planned to fly to the immediate territory where some of the Italia's crew are reported drifting with the ice, suffering from exposure, cold and lack of food. He will carry food and medicants.

TWO BANDITS HOLD UP, ROB JEWELRY STORE

The duke of Wellington, who defeated Napoleon at Waterloo, was afraid of cats, and strangely enough the only other world figure who feared cats as much as he did, was said to be Napoleon himself. These facts were recently pointed out among others showing how great men are the victims sometimes of superstitions and personal foibles or eccentricities.

CONFIDENCE IN AGRICULTURE

AMERICAN agriculture is being harmed more by politicians destroying the farmer's confidence in his own ability, and destroying other folks' confidence in the future of farming, than by any spread between the purchasing power of the farm dollar and the industrial dollar. And more than by any spread between the return of the farmer's investment and the other fellow's investment.

Thomas D. Campbell, whose corporation farms nearly a hundred thousand acres in the farther reaches of the Northwest, and who therefore must be credited with knowing something about agriculture, has been discussing farm problems in The Magazine of Business.

He says, for one thing, that capital invested in properly chosen farming enterprises will earn, over a period of ten years, a higher return than capital invested in any other conservative business.

And he says, for another thing, that the biggest obstacle farming has to overcome is the universal belief that it cannot succeed.

This belief is fostered by politicians who want to make the farmer think they are tearing their shirts for him, when they demand that the Government embark on fantastic paternalistic schemes which more far-seeing men disapprove as worthless, unworkable and even unconstitutional.

Evidently Mr. Campbell believes that, if the energy expended futilely in the quest for political panaceas were to be devoted to the increase of production per unit of investment and per unit of manpower, to the improvement of marketing methods, and to the salvaging of much that now goes to waste, there would be far less of an agricultural problem than there is today. For he says:

Just as the engineer and the chemist have made profit from waste in industry, they will salvage waste farm products. But the difficulty in this extensive development of the farming industry is the problem of financing. Business men do not hesitate to furnish capital for other manufacturing plants, but they are aghast, when you ask for ten to twelve dollars an acre for machinery alone in order to do your work in proper season.

Plainly, a belief in farming by the farmer, confidence in agriculture's future by others, and a feeling of security about farm land as an investment, must come before agriculture can take all the steps necessary to place it on a par with industry in the matter of prosperity. And these things cannot well come as long as selfish politicians, to serve their own ends, keep dinnings it into the farmer, and into the world at large, that his plight is immeasurably worse than is actually the case.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE BUDGETED VACATION

HAPPY nowadays are those who have planned ahead for their vacations, who have neat little thrift funds coming due, or balances in the bank piling up against the delightful day when the tickets are bought or the car packed.

As for the others—let this be a lesson to them! Perhaps they will have to borrow to get their vacation funds; and if so, while they are painfully paying for their fun after it is over, let them scrimp a little tighter and lay up thrift funds for next year at the same time.

Vacations have proved their worth and everybody ought to get them. They get people out of ruts, give them new ideas, rest one set of body and brain functions while exercising others.

Every year the travel literature grows more enticing. Every year one can get more fun and cover more ground for the money. If the vacation can be afforded, well and good—that fellow is lucky. If it cannot, he'd better manage somehow and go anyhow. All work and no play make Jack a dull boy, and Jill needs a little something new under her hat also. Most of all, so does Mother. Vacations—in reason, of course—are one of the things like dentistry and baths that people cannot afford not to take.

BEAUTIFUL HIGHWAYS

THE province of New Brunswick, Canada, joins the long list of states and provinces on this continent that are banishing advertising signs from the highways.

The action was hastened by a modern program for numbering and marking highways for motorists. It was found that the effectiveness of the traffic signs was often lost because of adjacent billboards or other commercial signs which obscured the road marks or at least distracted the motorist's attention. For effectiveness and safety, it was imperative to sweep away all but the official road signs.

There was also the consideration of beauty. Canada is somewhat less tolerant than the United States of clutter and ugliness on the highways.

Soon, no doubt, this will be the rule everywhere. Cities and towns, unfortunately, will be cluttered up and uglified needlessly long after the rural sections have regained their original beauty.

Even in the country, however, the cleaning up the highways often fails to accomplish its full purpose, because of the billboards permitted to deface the scenery on private property along the roadside. That is the next thing to get after. It is harder to handle, because people insist that they have a right to do what they like on their own property. Progress can be made, however, by making them see that ugliness always lowers property values, and beauty raises them.

BENEFITS OF GOOD ROADS

IN good roads, as in so many other ways, the United States leads the world. The splendid, safe highways that are common to us, would in many other countries be considered miracles. We can cross entire states, and go from coast to coast, without encountering dangerous roads.

No public investment pays better. A city with good streets is an attraction to industry and home-seekers; our mountain and country highways, aside from their more practical uses, are a constant invitation to investigate new parts. We have come to depend on these good roads and they are now necessities of business and pleasure.

Plans are being made for a highway from this country to South America, to be the longest in the world. The possibilities of such a connection are enormous in building international good will, in making it easy for foreigners to see and understand the United States, and for us to do the same.

Good roads bear the same relation to a nation as the arteries do to the human body; they give us life and national health, industrially and physically.

HOOVER IS DESTINED TO BE NEXT NOMINEE

on for the movie men who occupied a box to themselves, a little tier stretching half way across the hall opposite the rostrum.

Butler rapped for about four minutes until he considered the convention in order. He announced his belief that a quorum was present and introduced Bishop S. C. Partridge of the West Missouri Episcopal church, who prayed.

The convention stood. Madame Schumann-Heink, in a bright green dress, was next introduced to the convention by Butler. She sang stirringly the Star Spangled Banner. A piano had been placed between the press sections under the rostrum. She received loud applause from the delegates.

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—The McNary-Haugen theory of farm relief was denounced as a measure which would only defer the day of reckoning, in the keynote speech of Senator Fess of Ohio to the opening session of the republican national convention today.

In the face of agitation in farm organizations for a party platform plank pledged to the program vetoed by President Coolidge, Fess propounded Coolidge farm doctrines to the convention.

"To be substantial and effective," he said, "the machinery of control must be farmer-owned, farmer-organized and farmer-operated, rather than operated by a bureau from Washington."

Fess said he believed the real solution lies in development of extensive and efficient co-operative marketing and lowering of transportation costs. There can be no doubt, he added, about the sincere desire of the party to deal intelligently with the people.

HOOVER GETS 79 PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATES

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—Hoover and harmony! This was the program decided upon by the party leaders today as the republican national convention began to swing into action.

The nominating of Secretary Hoover was assured as the result of conferences lasting long after midnight which brought Secretary Andrew W. Mellon reluctantly into the Hoover tent and behind him the solid block of Pennsylvania's 79 delegates. Preceding Mellon by a few hours was William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee and political confidant of President Coolidge, who received word that the president would not accept if nominated and thereupon promptly swung his influence behind Hoover.

Now comes the real task of achieving the second objective—harmony. There is much bitterness in the convention again Hoover. At one time it threatened to endanger him seriously. Now the problem is to heal the party breach and put the full republican strength behind the ticket.

The temper of the convention began to change rapidly when the news of Mellon's capitulation raced thru the crowds assembling for the opening session of the convention.

By the time Senator Fess, the temporary chairman, was well into his key-note speech, the first signs of a closing of the ranks behind Hoover began to appear.

Fess made a reference to the department of commerce of which Hoover is the head. Instantly as if in response to an electric spark, the delegates and the thousands of party spectators in the galleries burst into real applause.

Friends of former Governor Lowden, Hoover's chief rival, said however they would go through with their fight—though none expects victory.

CONFIDENCE IN AGRICULTURE

AMERICAN agriculture is being harmed more by politicians destroying the farmer's confidence in his own ability, and destroying other folks' confidence in the future of farming, than by any spread between the purchasing power of the farm dollar and the industrial dollar. And more than by any spread between the return of the farmer's investment and the other fellow's investment.

Thomas D. Campbell, whose corporation farms nearly a hundred thousand acres in the farther reaches of the Northwest, and who therefore must be credited with knowing something about agriculture, has been discussing farm problems in The Magazine of Business.

He says, for one thing, that capital invested in properly chosen farming enterprises will earn, over a period of ten years, a higher return than capital invested in any other conservative business.

And he says, for another thing, that the biggest obstacle farming has to overcome is the universal belief that it cannot succeed.

This belief is fostered by politicians who want to make the farmer think they are tearing their shirts for him, when they demand that the Government embark on fantastic paternalistic schemes which more far-seeing men disapprove as worthless, unworkable and even unconstitutional.

Evidently Mr. Campbell believes that, if the energy expended futilely in the quest for political panaceas were to be devoted to the increase of production per unit of investment and per unit of manpower, to the improvement of marketing methods, and to the salvaging of much that now goes to waste, there would be far less of an agricultural problem than there is today. For he says:

Just as the engineer and the chemist have made profit from waste in industry, they will salvage waste farm products. But the difficulty in this extensive development of the farming industry is the problem of financing. Business men do not hesitate to furnish capital for other manufacturing plants, but they are aghast, when you ask for ten to twelve dollars an acre for machinery alone in order to do your work in proper season.

Plainly, a belief in farming by the farmer, confidence in agriculture's future by others, and a feeling of security about farm land as an investment, must come before agriculture can take all the steps necessary to place it on a par with industry in the matter of prosperity. And these things cannot well come as long as selfish politicians, to serve their own ends, keep dinnings it into the farmer, and into the world at large, that his plight is immeasurably worse than is actually the case.—Minneapolis Journal.

THE BUDGETED VACATION

HAPPY nowadays are those who have planned ahead for their vacations, who have neat little thrift funds coming due, or balances in the bank piling up against the delightful day when the tickets are bought or the car packed.

As for the others—let this be a lesson to them! Perhaps they will have to borrow to get their vacation funds; and if so, while they are painfully paying for their fun after it is over, let them scribble a little tighter and lay up thrift funds for next year at the same time.

Vacations have proved their worth and everybody ought to get them. They get people out of ruts, give them new ideas, rest one set of body and brain functions while exercising others.

Every year the travel literature grows more enticing. Every year one can get more fun and cover more ground for the money. If the vacation can be afforded, well and good—that fellow is lucky. If it cannot, he'd better manage somehow and go anyhow. All work and no play make Jack a dull boy, and Jill needs a little something new under her hat also. Most of all, so does Mother. Vacations—in reason, of course—are one of the things like dentistry ad baths that people cannot afford not to take.

BEAUTIFUL HIGHWAYS

THE province of New Brunswick, Canada, joins the long list of states and provinces on this continent that are banishing advertising signs from the highways.

The action was hastened by a modern program for numbering and marking highways for motorists. It was found that the effectiveness of the traffic signs was often lost because of adjacent billboards or other commercial signs which obscured the road marks or at least distracted the motorist's attention. For effectiveness and safety, it was imperative to sweep away all but the official road signs.

There was also the consideration of beauty. Canada is somewhat less tolerant than the United States of clutter and ugliness on the highways.

Soon, no doubt, this will be the rule everywhere. Cities and towns, unfortunately, will be cluttered up and uglified needlessly long after the rural sections have regained their original beauty.

Even in the country, however, the cleaning up of the highways often fails to accomplish its full purpose, because of the billboards permitted to deface the scenery on private property along the roadside. That is the next thing to get after. It is harder to handle, because people insist that they have a right to do what they like on their own property. Progress can be made, however, by making them see that ugliness always lowers property values, and beauty raises them.

BENEFITS OF GOOD ROADS

IN good roads, as in so many other ways, the United States leads the world. The splendid, safe highways that are common to us, would in many other countries be considered miracles. We can cross entire states, and go from coast to coast, without encountering dangerous roads.

No public investment pays better. A city with good streets is an attraction to industry and home-seekers; our mountain and country highways, aside from their more practical uses, are a constant invitation to investigate new parts. We have come to depend on these good roads and they are now necessities of business and pleasure.

Plans are being made for a highway from this country to South America, to be the longest in the world. The possibilities of such a connection are enormous in building international good will, in making it easy for foreigners to see and understand the United States, and for us to do the same.

Good roads bear the same relation to a nation as the arteries do to the human body; they give us life and national health, industrially and physically.

Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—The McNary-Haugen theory of farm relief was denounced as a measure which would only defer the day of reckoning, in the keynote speech of Senator Fess of Ohio to the opening session of the republican national convention today.

In the face of agitation in farm organizations for a party platform plank pledged to the program vetoed by President Coolidge, Fess propounded Coolidge farm doctrines to the convention.

"To be substantial and effective," he said, "the machinery of control must be farmer-owned, farmer-organized and farmer-operated, rather than operated by a bureau from Washington."

Fess said he believed the real solution lies in development of extensive and efficient co-operative marketing and lowering of transportation costs. There can be no doubt, he added, about the sincere desire of the party to deal intelligently with the people.

HOOVER GETS 79 PENNSYLVANIA DELEGATES

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Convention Hall, Kansas City, June 12.—Hoover and harmony!

This was the program decided upon by the party leaders today as the republican national convention began to swing into action.

The nominating of Secretary Hoover was assured as the result of conferences lasting long after midnight which brought Secretary Andrew W. Mellon reluctantly into the Hoover tent and behind him the solid block of Pennsylvania's 79 delegates. Preceding Mellon by a few hours was William M. Butler, chairman of the republican national committee and political confidant of President Coolidge, who received word that the president would not accept if nominated and thereupon promptly swung his influence behind Hoover.

Now comes the real task of achieving the second objective—harmony. There is much bitterness in the convention again Hoover. At one time it threatened to endanger him seriously. Now the problem is to heal the party breach and put the full republican strength behind the ticket.

CINCINNATI REDS SENSATION IN NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

HORNSBY TAKES NATIONAL LEAGUE HOME RUN LEAD

BASEBALL FANS ARE MYSTIFIED BY THE RACE

REDS ARE CALLED THE "SURPRISE" TEAM OF THE SEASON

GANG LED BY JACK HENDRICKS LAST YEAR FINISHED IN FIFTH PLACE

If not the surprise, the Cincinnati Reds have been the sensation of the first third of the National League pennant race. The reason for their success is outlined by Tom Swope, veteran Cincinnati baseball scribe, in the following article.

By TOM SWOPE
(Written for the United Press)
New York, June 12. — Baseball fans up and down this broad land are claiming to be mystified by the continued presence of the Cincinnati Reds at the top of the National League's hectic pennant race.

But there really isn't much cause to call the Reds the "surprise" of the season.

The gang led by Jack Hendricks finished fifth last year and hasn't been changed much. But that fifth place finish was a great achievement.

This spring the Reds, strengthened by the addition of Marty Callaghan, an outfielder and hitter of great ability, have picked up where they left off last fall, and are making the pace for the rest of the pack in a fashion that should convince anyone they mean business.

As a road club, the Reds are far and away the best in the senior league this year, and it's a matter of history that the teams which have done the best on the road in this league the last two years, are the ones that won the pennant.

The strongest point about Cincy's team is its defense, not its pitching so much as the smoothness of its infield. Horace Ford and Hughie Critz, respectively, the shortstop and second baseman, of the Reds, are treating the fans around the National League to the greatest defensive ball they ever have seen.

Right now, Red Lucas, Carl Mays and Adolfo Lugo, three of baseball's ablest right-handed pitchers, are laid up with injuries. George Kelly also is too lame to play first and Ethan Allen, a corking outfielder, likewise is crippled.

With these five men out, the Reds last week had a big slump, for them. They lost three straight. They were pretty nearly worn out when they tackled the Brooklyn Dodgers, the one club that has their number this year. But they snapped out of their slump as soon as they got up against a team that was crowding them.

Watching the Scoreboard

By United Press

Yesterday's Hero—Cal Pleinich, Cincinnati catcher, who drove in four of the runs, including the deciding two, in the ninth, making two homers, as the Reds defeated the Giants, 7 to 5.

Grover Cleveland Alexander held the Braves safe and made a home run himself as the Cards kept pace with the league leaders, beating Boston, 8 to 1.

Riggs Stephenson's bat provided the deciding punch as the Cubs won the opener from the Robins, 3 to 1.

Don Hurst's homer in the seventh broke up a loosely played ball game and gave the Phillies their third victory since their return home, the Pirates being the victims, 6 to 4.

Ted Blankenship had what it takes to stop the Yankees these days, and the White Sox beat the world's champions, 6 to 1, New York making but four hits.

Fox and Simmons hit homers in quick succession with the score tied in the eighth and the A's beat the Tigers, 4 to 2.

Kenna, a rookie catcher, drove in the run that enabled the Senators to defeat the Indians in ten innings, 7 to 6.

A single, a walk, a balk and a long sacrifice fly gave the Browns the winning tally in a pitching battle between Crowder and MacFayden, lost by the Red Sox, 2 to 1.

WHAT OUTSTANDING STARS DID YESTERDAY

(By United Press)

Rogers Hornsby—Two singles in four times up as the Braves lost.

Harry Heilmann—Two singles in four times at bat, the Tigers losing.

Ty Cobb—Singled once in three times at bat and was hit by a pitched ball.

MICKY WALKER AND ACE HUDKINS START TRAINING

Chicago, June 12.—(UP)—Micky Walker, middleweight champion of the world, and Ace Hudkins, challenger, have begun intensive training for their championship fight at Comiskey Park, June 21.

Chicago fight fans are predicting that the show will not go the limit. Hudkins boxed nine rounds yesterday and showed that he is in excellent condition.

The champion spent part of the afternoon pummeling Jack McKenna and K. O. White, colored middleweights.

Bucky's "400" No Batting Average

By FRANK GETTY
United Press Sports Editor

The question has been raised as to whether the poor showing of the Washington Senators this spring may not have been due to the fact that their manager, Bucky Harris, has other things on his mind than baseball as a result of his marriage into Washington society and his elevation to the pages of the social register.

Knowing Bucky, it is difficult to believe that he hasn't his heart in his work, for if ever there was a born ball player it is the young man from the mines.

It is a fact, however, that since Harris rose socially the Senators have sunk in the American league standings. Some of the Washington fans, usually a loyal lot, especially since the club won two championships, are beginning to chide Bucky about his social connections. If he happens to strike out, which is seldom enough, goodness knows, the cry of the wild raspberry is heard through Griffith Stadium. If a grounder bounces from his shins, an investigating committee which has nothing to do with oil leases demands to know why he doesn't take off his spats.

Hampered by Injuries

The Senators have been hampered by a series of injuries and illness this spring, which accounts in a great measure for the club's failure. Harris himself was out with an injury to his foot and a fractured finger.

"Mike Martin, our trainer, who has been with Griff for 20 years, said he never saw a club with as many men sick and hurt as we have had during the past two seasons," Bucky said when in New York recently.

"The man we missed most was 'Goose' Goslin. He drives in over 100 runs a year and provides the big punch for our attack. When the 'Goose' was out, you can imagine what it did to our hitting strength. As for our defense, because of my injuries we had to play a couple of youngsters as the key-stone combination and neither was sufficiently experienced to steady the other. We played a lot of bad baseball this spring, but I think we can come back."

If Harris can get his club into the first division and keep it there, Washington may overlook his social aspirations. If not, there is considerable likelihood that he will be only a diplomat's son-in-law.

Tunney Lost Sympathy

Social progress has occasionally hampered athletic endeavor. There is the case of Gene Tunney, who may or may not be the greatest heavyweight fighter in existence but who certainly has lost the confidence and sympathy of the fight fans. In the case of Tunney, as in the case of Bucky Harris, social recognition followed phenomenal success in sport.

If Jack Dempsey had been his old self at Philadelphia one rainy September night, Tunney would have gone into oblivion via the resin route and the exclusive beaches of Florida and the lecture halls of Yale would have known him not.

Success in sport which leads to social adulation does not spoil every great athlete, however. Babe Ruth, for instance, is the same unaffected, good-natured, friendly rough-neck he was when he was just a left handed pitcher up in Boston. Society cannot spoil the Babe, nor put a crimp in his home run hitting.

Jack Dempsey never was entirely spoiled by efforts to get him into a boiled shirt and under a high hat. The man from Manassas was unique; he could take up the social register or leave it alone.

HIT BALL TO ALL CORNERS OF FIELD

Hitting the ball to all corners of the field, the Russell Creamery Co. defeated the Hackensack diamond-ball team here Sunday, 13 to 8, in the third and deciding game of the series.

Peterson, pitching for Hackensack allowed sixteen hits, walked three men and struck out nine, six of these strikeouts coming in the first three innings. Ericsson, hurling for the winners, allowed twelve hits, walked four men and struck out eight.

Hackensack started the scoring in the first inning when Brennan singled and advanced to third on Melle's hit and came home when Peterson sent a single over second base. Hackensack counted three times in the third on a double, two walks and a triple. In the fourth inning, the Creamery Co. started hitting the ball and put four markers across the plate. In the fifth inning they tallied four more runs on four hits and two errors. In the sixth inning the Creamery Co. scored two more runs when Walsh hit his first home run with a man on base. Hackensack rallied in the seventh inning and put four runs across, but the Creamery Co. came back in the eighth to score three runs and put the game on ice, when Welsh hit his second home run after White had walked and S. Wunderlich had singled.

Friday night the Russell Creamery Co. will play an All-Star team composed of players from the American Railway Express Co., J. C. Penney Co. and the Y. M. C. A.

FORMER GOVERNOR BURNQUIST HURT IN AN ACCIDENT

Minneapolis, June 12.—(UP)—Former Governor J. A. A. Burnquist, candidate for the republican nomination for United States senator, who was injured in an automobile accident near Red Wing yesterday, escaped without serious injury and will resume his campaign "in a day or two," he informed the United Press today.

The senatorial candidate said that he would resume the interrupted campaign tour to Red Wing, Winona and other southern Minnesota towns he had planned to visit before the primary elections on June 18.

Brooklyn has two of the greatest pitchers in the major leagues in Jess Petty and Dazzy Vance.

A European swimmer outswam a sea lion, and if Chet Thomas, the old Cleveland coach, is around, he can cut-bark it.

Urban Shocker, who has just signed to pitch for the Yanks, is said to have perfected a new delivery he calls the radio ball.

Pitcher Earl Colhard has been sold to the Seattle club of the Pacific Coast league, officials of the Cleveland Indians announce.

Bob Lennox, infielder, has been sold outright by the Fort Worth baseball club to Charlotte, N. C., of the South Atlantic association.

Vic Hansen, former three-sport captain at Syracuse university, will join the Syracuse stars of the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Lou Gehrig of the Yankees and Joe Sewell of Cleveland were the only two American league players to take part in every game last season.

The Athletics are missing Al Simmons, who batted an even .302 last year. Yet Cobb, Speaker and Miller, the three vets, are going good enough.

The White Sox have released a couple of rookie pitchers. Al Williamson goes to Shreveport. He is a right-hander. Southpaw Roy Wilson is sent to San Antonio.

Pitching offerings of Horace Lisenbee, Washington hurler, seem to please Babe Ruth. Three of Ruth's home runs this season have been made with Lisenbee pitching.

We don't know what it means, except that the Red Sox must be doing better. A Cleveland writer says they "came back strong in the first half of the first."

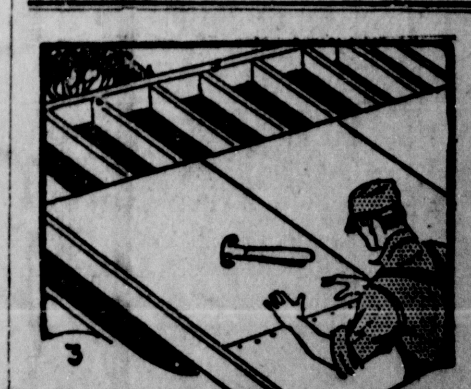

Manager Hendricks of the Reds has two first basemen that are both good enough to be in there every day—George Kelly and Walter Pipp. The former is considered the regular.

Ping Bodie, veteran of 22 years in baseball and one of the best known Pacific Coast league stars for two decades, was given his unconditional release by the San Francisco Seals.

Malcolm Moss, just a youngster off the Vanderbilt Campus, is regarded as one of the best pitchers with Louisville this year. He recently blanked Kansas City, allowing only five hits.

Harry Heilmann, Detroit's slugging outfielder, has won the American league batting championship in odd years during the past eight seasons. He expects to "break" his "jinx" this year.

CINCINNATI REDS SENSATION IN NATIONAL LEAGUE RACE

BASEBALL FANS ARE MYSTIFIED BY THE RACE

REDS ARE CALLED THE "SURPRISE" TEAM OF THE SEASON

GANG LED BY JACK HENDRICKS LAST YEAR FINISHED IN FIFTH PLACE

If not the surprise, the Cincinnati Reds have been the sensation of the first third of the National League pennant race. The reason for their success is outlined by Tom Swope, veteran Cincinnati baseball scribe, in the following article.

By TOM SWOPE
(Written for the United Press)
New York, June 12. — Baseball fans up and down this broad land are claiming to be mystified by the continued presence of the Cincinnati Reds at the top of the National League's hectic pennant race.

But there really isn't much cause to call the Reds the "surprise" of the season. The gang led by Jack Hendricks finished fifth last year and hasn't been changed much. But that fifth place finish was a great achievement.

This spring the Reds, strengthened by the addition of Marty Callaghan, an outfielder and hitter of great ability, have picked up where they left off last fall, and are making the pace for the rest of the pack in a fashion that should convince anyone they mean business.

As a road club, the Reds are far and away the best in the senior league this year, and it's a matter of history that the teams which have done the best on the road in this league the last two years, are the ones that won the pennant.

The strongest point about Cincy's team is its defense, not its pitching so much as the smoothness of its infield. Horace Ford and Hughie Critz, respectively, the shortstop and second baseman, of the Reds, are treating the fans around the National League to the greatest defensive ball they ever have seen.

Right now, Red Lucas, Carl Mays and Adolfo Luque, three of baseball's ablest right-handed pitchers, are laid up with injuries. George Kelly also is too lame to play first and Ethan Allen, a corking outfielder, likewise is crippled.

With these five men out, the Reds last week had a big slump, for them. They lost three straight. They were pretty nearly worn out when they tackled the Brooklyn Dodgers, the one club that has their number this year. But they snapped out of their slump as soon as they got up against a team that was crowding them.

Watching the Scoreboard

By United Press
Yesterday's Hero—Cal Pleinich, Cincinnati catcher, who drove in four of the runs, including the deciding two in the ninth, making two homers, as the Reds defeated the Giants, 7 to 5. Grover Cleveland Alexander held the Braves safe and made a home run himself as the Cards kept pace with the league leaders, beating Boston, 8 to 1.

Riggs Stephenson's bat provided the deciding punch as the Cubs won the opener from the Robins, 3 to 1. Don Hurst's homer in the seventh broke up a loosely played ball game and gave the Phillies their third victory since their return home, the Pirates being the victims, 6 to 4.

Ted Blankenship had what it takes to stop the Yankees these days, and the White Sox beat the world's champions, 6 to 1, New York making but four hits.

Fox and Simmons hit homers in quick succession with the score tied in the eighth and the A's beat the Tigers, 4 to 2.

Kenna, a rookie catcher, drove in the run that enabled the Senators to defeat the Indians in ten innings, 7 to 6.

A single, a walk, a balk and a long sacrifice fly gave the Browns the winning tally in a pitching battle between Crowder and MacFayden, lost by the Red Sox, 2 to 1.

WHAT OUTSTANDING STARS DID YESTERDAY

(By United Press)
Rogers Hornsby—Two singles in four times up as the Braves lost.
Harry Heilmann—Two singles in four times at bat, the Tigers losing.
Ty Cobb—Singled once in three times at bat and was hit by a pitched ball.
Paul Waner, Kiki Cuyler, Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig went hitless.
Tris Speaker—Warmed the bench.

Bucky's "400" No Batting Average

The question has been raised as to whether the poor showing of the Washington Senators this spring may not have been due to the fact that their manager, Bucky Harris, has other things on his mind than baseball as a result of his marriage into Washington society and his elevation to the pages of the social register.

Truth About Buying That Every Woman Should Know

"A very careful analysis of the comparative values of a number of lines of goods sold both through stores and by canvassers causes me to say that there is absolutely no question but that women who buy from stores receive more for their money."

"Exceedingly plausible sales talks have caused many women to hold the erroneous and costly belief that they can buy more cheaply from agents than from retail stores."

"They are given the impression that goods sold at the door cost less because a number of profits are wiped out. What they are not told is that the commission paid the canvasser is of necessity much larger than the regular profit of the merchant."

"All investigations show, and any woman who will investigate can prove it for herself that dollar for dollar, the retail store gives the greater value."

Tour of Minnesota Historical Society
Takes Members Over Old
Stage Line

HISTORY RECALLED

J. F. Smart, Former County Auditor
Here Adds New Information to Society

J. F. Smart, former county auditor of Crow Wing county now of Silver Hill, Alabama, will be an interested visitor to the State Historical Society here Wednesday and Thursday.

In a letter to Solon J. Buck, superintendent of the Minnesota Historical Society, forwarded to Judge L. B. Kinder, Brainerd, Mr. Smart writes in an interesting manner concerning history known to his uncle in the early days of the route to be travelled over by the members on the tour.

The letter follows:
Would be glad indeed to accept your invitation to go on the historic tour to Brainerd and Fort Ripley on June 13.

You follow the trail blazed out by Lieut. Pike in 1805. My grandfather, Robt. Russell, an emigrant from Scotland, went up that route as far as Old Crow Wing in 1843, and we are of the opinion that he later worked on the Govt. buildings at Ft. Ripley when they were under construction.

An uncle of mine, Henry B. Smart, went up over the stage line the first year it was in operation in 1854 and built a dam and grist mill at the crossing of Platte river. The remnants of this structure may be seen to this day, so I am told. (See article "Passing of a Pioneer" in Brainerd Dispatch, March 1914). That townsie would be a thing of interest if you had the time. Nelson Flint of North St. Paul can locate it (about 2 miles south of Royalton). I was a boy on Rice prairie, parts of the old stage road were plainly discernible by the deep ruts worn in the sandy surface of the prairie. I wonder if any part of the old trail has escaped the plowman so that it might be located today. If some local man would flag the bus at the right spot, passengers would doubtless be interested in something of that sort. Might try Robt. J. Smart, R. F. D. Rice, or Dan C. Gregory, R. F. D. St. Cloud. The latter is a son of one of the old stage drivers. Look for it any time after crossing Little Rock bridge till you approach Royalton.

Old Crow Wing, the original county seat, would be a place of interest, although I believe not a trace of it remains today. Don't know whether any road reaches it but a motor trip on the river would bring you there and would be a pleasing event in itself. Some historical allusions are made in an article in Brainerd Dispatch under the caption "Forty Years in the Building" (about 1909). Some reference is made to other territorial plats in that locality in special magazine edition of Brainerd Tribune (June or July, 1910). I made an examination of some of these plats in the recorder's office in St. Paul at the time the Crow Wing plat was filed in 1857 I think.

Many other suggestions occur to me but I fear those already mentioned will throw you off schedule so I will desist.

ENFORCES BLUE LAWS WITH A REAL VENGEANCE

Westwood, N. J., June 11.—(U.P.)—Weary policemen who had worked all night were still busy today trying to explain to an enraged countryside why E. Alan Myer, justice of the peace, has suddenly become so enthusiastic about enforcing the blue laws.

Myer was preparing to open his new motion picture house yesterday when a squad of police entered and arrested him for violation of the blue laws of 1750.

"All right, said Myer as he paid his $16 fine, "if we are going to have blue laws, I'll help you enforce them."

He went home, put on his justice of the peace's badge and started down the main street, closing restaurants, garages, news stands and groceries. Dinner time came and Westwood was hungry, but Myer posted guards at the restaurant doors and dared the proprietors to reopen.

Then he went after the automobiles. Myer stopped them all and soon the main street was choked. A wedding party was halted; an ice cream truck stood by the curb for hours and all the cream melted.

The end came when police, who had been carrying out Myer's orders, revolted and arrested him for obstructing traffic. He went to jail cheerfully, promising to enforce the blue laws again next Sunday if police try to close his theater.

Selection to Accompany
Lincoln Highway Tour

Caravan to be En Route Two Months; Scouts to Give
Safety Demonstrations

A tour of the United States from New York City to San Francisco is in store for the four boys remaining in the continent wide selection of seven boy scouts. The other three were picked to accompany the Martin Johnson camera hunt expedition to Africa.

Eagle Scout Carl Zapffe, Jr., will be one of the boys to accompany the Lincoln Highway Caravan on its two months tour.

Confirmation of the tour and his selection to accompany it was received yesterday by Carl Zapffe in a letter from E. S. Martin, New York secretary of the Editorial Board of the Boy Scouts of America.

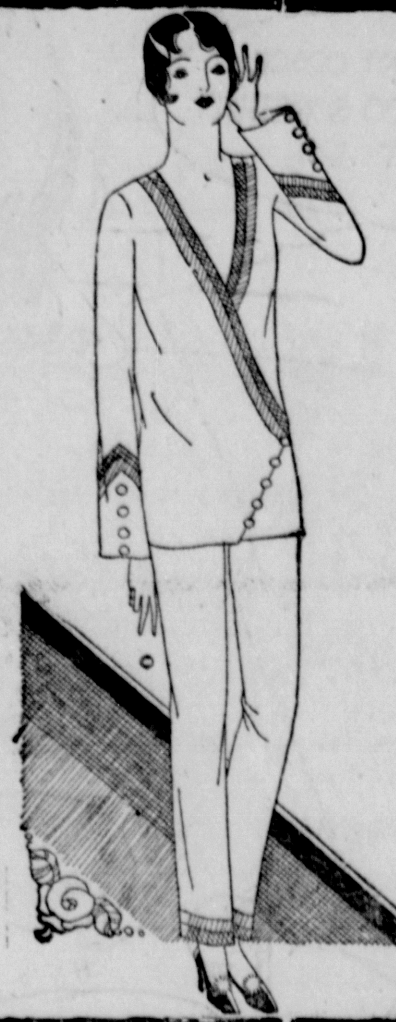

The letter follows:

Dear Scout Zapffe:
"When you were here I had some conversation with you about the Lincoln Highway trip, and my recollection is that you expected to go with us. The Caravan will leave about July 5, and expects to occupy from 45 days to two months for return to New York.

"The plan is to make up a demonstration group, to consist of the four Scouts who were here and are not going to Africa. This group to proceed in a Reo speedwagon, properly equipped, and with a chauffeur, and Mr. Lombardi, give safety demonstrations for Scouts en route to San Francisco. The demonstration car will be preceded by a pilot car, and a scout director, who will make necessary arrangements for the displays, etc., but will be expected to be with Mr. Lombardi and the Scouts each night.

"An average of only one hundred miles per day will be covered. The caravan will be met at all points by local Scout groups, and no doubt will be some camping with opportunity for camp cooking, with scouting games, swimming, etc. Upon reaching San Francisco, the speed wagon will be left and the Scouts will be taken in a big touring car to several points in California and elsewhere for sight seeing, and will return to New York by way of several important cities, and scenic points.

"The details of the trip are being worked out at the present time. Mr. Hoag of the Lincoln Highway is leaving early tomorrow morning to cross the country and make arrangements for the setting up of the markers, which will be located along the highway and will be set by groups of local Scouts. All of the details of the trip will be available within a called attention to a rest room erected by Winnipeg Lions at Emerson, near the boundary line, established for the convenience of tourists and that a celebration June 23, to which all are invited, will mark its formal opening. The French horn quartet of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra played selections. The members have summer cottages near Pequot.

LIONS CLOSE BUSINESS SESSION

District Governor W. M. Oates, Aberdeen, S. D., voiced his appreciation of the part the Lionesses played in making the district convention such a success.

Carl Melvin, of Winnipeg, Deputy District Governor of Canada, traced the growth of Lionism, and praised the cementing of friendly relations between Canada and the United States by service clubs such as the Lions and voiced the hope that the two flags may always fly side by side as they did in the convention hall.

Captain W. H. Fawcett spoke of his recent world tour and mentioned that a car backfiring in Italy was put down by the natives as either an eruption by Vesuvius or Mussolini. As to Canadian-American relations, he said he was born in Winnipeg, became an American citizen and had lived in all of the territory embraced in the fifth district of Lions.

Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan gave a humorous address that left his audience calling for more.

Joseph Adams, of Chicago, District Governor of Illinois, called to fill the place of Earle W. Hodges, International Vice President, arrived in the afternoon for the banquet and spoke on the value of Lions service club work. He hoped the convention had been a real inspiration to all attending. He told of work done by the Lions in Chicago and the Illinois district.

Forty-five minutes of vaudeville followed, sleight of hand performance, dancing and songs by a company of six from the Twin Cities. The governors ball followed in the pavilion.

The sports program Monday afternoon encountered rain and the Lions took to the indoor sports. Trophies were awarded as follows:

Trapshooting, J. S. Lewis, Little Falls, broke 44 out of 50.

Bowling, high score W. G. Lettgett, Winnipeg, 505. Winning three-man team, all of Winnipeg, J. J. King 448, W. G. Leggett 505 and D. E. Hutchinson 429.

Tennis, R. M. Gilbert, Grand Rapids, defeating J. D. Wooldge, Fargo, 6-4, 6-4, and 2-6.

There was a special program for the Lionesses and Mrs. C. L. Burnett, chairman, presided. A pleasing incident was the presentation of a brooch by Brainerd Lionesses to Mrs. W. M. Oates, Aberdeen, S. D., who responded to the address of welcome. There was a luncheon at the hotel, reception at the home of Mrs. W. H. Fawcett, and later in the afternoon bridge tea and fortune telling in the hotel lobby. At 1 p. m. today the ladies had luncheon with the Lions.

The Lions business session this morning started with informal breakfast conferences, that of the club presidents conducted by M. M. Newcomb of Minneapolis and of the secretaries by L. B. Slater of Oakes, N. D.

The order of business at about 11 o'clock will be presentation of reports by committees on resolutions, good will and grievance, credentials, nominations, Des Moines convention and work with the blind.

Balloting for district officers and next convention city will follow.

Minot, N. D., and Duluth are convention city candidates. Duluth is offering a boat trip on the Great Lakes with the convention held on board ship. There is considerable rivalry about offices to be filled.

LIONS CLOSE BUSINESS SESSION

called attention to a rest room erected by Winnipeg Lions at Emerson, near the boundary line, established for the convenience of tourists and that a celebration June 23, to which all are invited, will mark its formal opening. The French horn quartet of the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra played selections. The members have summer cottages near Pequot.

District Governor W. M. Oates, Aberdeen, S. D., voiced his appreciation of the part the Lionesses played in making the district convention such a success.

Carl Melvin, of Winnipeg, Deputy District Governor of Canada, traced the growth of Lionism, and praised the cementing of friendly relations between Canada and the United States by service clubs such as the Lions and voiced the hope that the two flags may always fly side by side as they did in the convention hall.

Captain W. H. Fawcett spoke of his recent world tour and mentioned that a car backing in Italy was put down by the natives as either an eruption by Vesuvius or Mussolini. As to Canadian-American relations, he said he was born in Winnipeg, became an American citizen and had lived in all of the territory embraced in the fifth district of Lions.

Lieutenant Governor W. I. Nolan gave a humorous address that left his audience calling for more.

Joseph Adams, of Chicago, District Governor of Illinois, called to fill the place of Earle W. Hodges, International Vice President, arrived in the afternoon for the banquet and spoke on the value of Lions service club work. He hoped the convention had been a real inspiration to all attending. He told of work done by the Lions in Chicago and the Illinois district.

Forty-five minutes of vaudeville followed, sleight of hand performance, dancing and songs by a company of six from the Twin Cities. The governors ball followed in the pavilion.

The sports program Monday afternoon encountered rain and the Lions took to the indoor sports. Trophies were awarded as follows:

Trapshooting, J. S. Levis, Little Falls, broke 44 out of 50.

Bowling, high score W. G. Lett, Winnipeg, 505. Winning three-man team, all of Winnipeg, J. J. King 448, W. G. Leggett 505 and D. E. Hutchinson 429.

Tennis, R. M. Gilbert, Grand Rapids, defeating J. D. Wooldredge, Fargo, 6-4, 6-4, and 2-6.

There was a special program for the Lionesses and Mrs. C. L. Burnett, chairman, presided. A pleasing incident was the presentation of a brooch by Brainerd Lionesses to Mrs. W. M. Oates, Aberdeen, S. D., who responded to the address of welcome. There was a luncheon at the hotel, reception at the home of Mrs. W. H. Fawcett, and later in the afternoon bridge tea and fortune telling in the hotel lobby. At 1 p. m. today the ladies have luncheon with the Lions.

The Lions business session this morning started with informal breakfast conferences, that of the club presidents conducted by M. M. Newcomb of Minneapolis and of the secretaries by L. B. Slater of Oakes, N. D.

The order of business at about 11 o'clock will be presentation of reports by committees on resolutions, good will and grievance, credentials, nominations, Des Moines convention and work with the blind.

Balloting for district officers and next convention city will follow.

Minot, N. D., and Duluth are convention city candidates. Duluth is offering a boat trip on the Great Lakes with the convention held on board ship. There is considerable rivalry about offices to be filled.

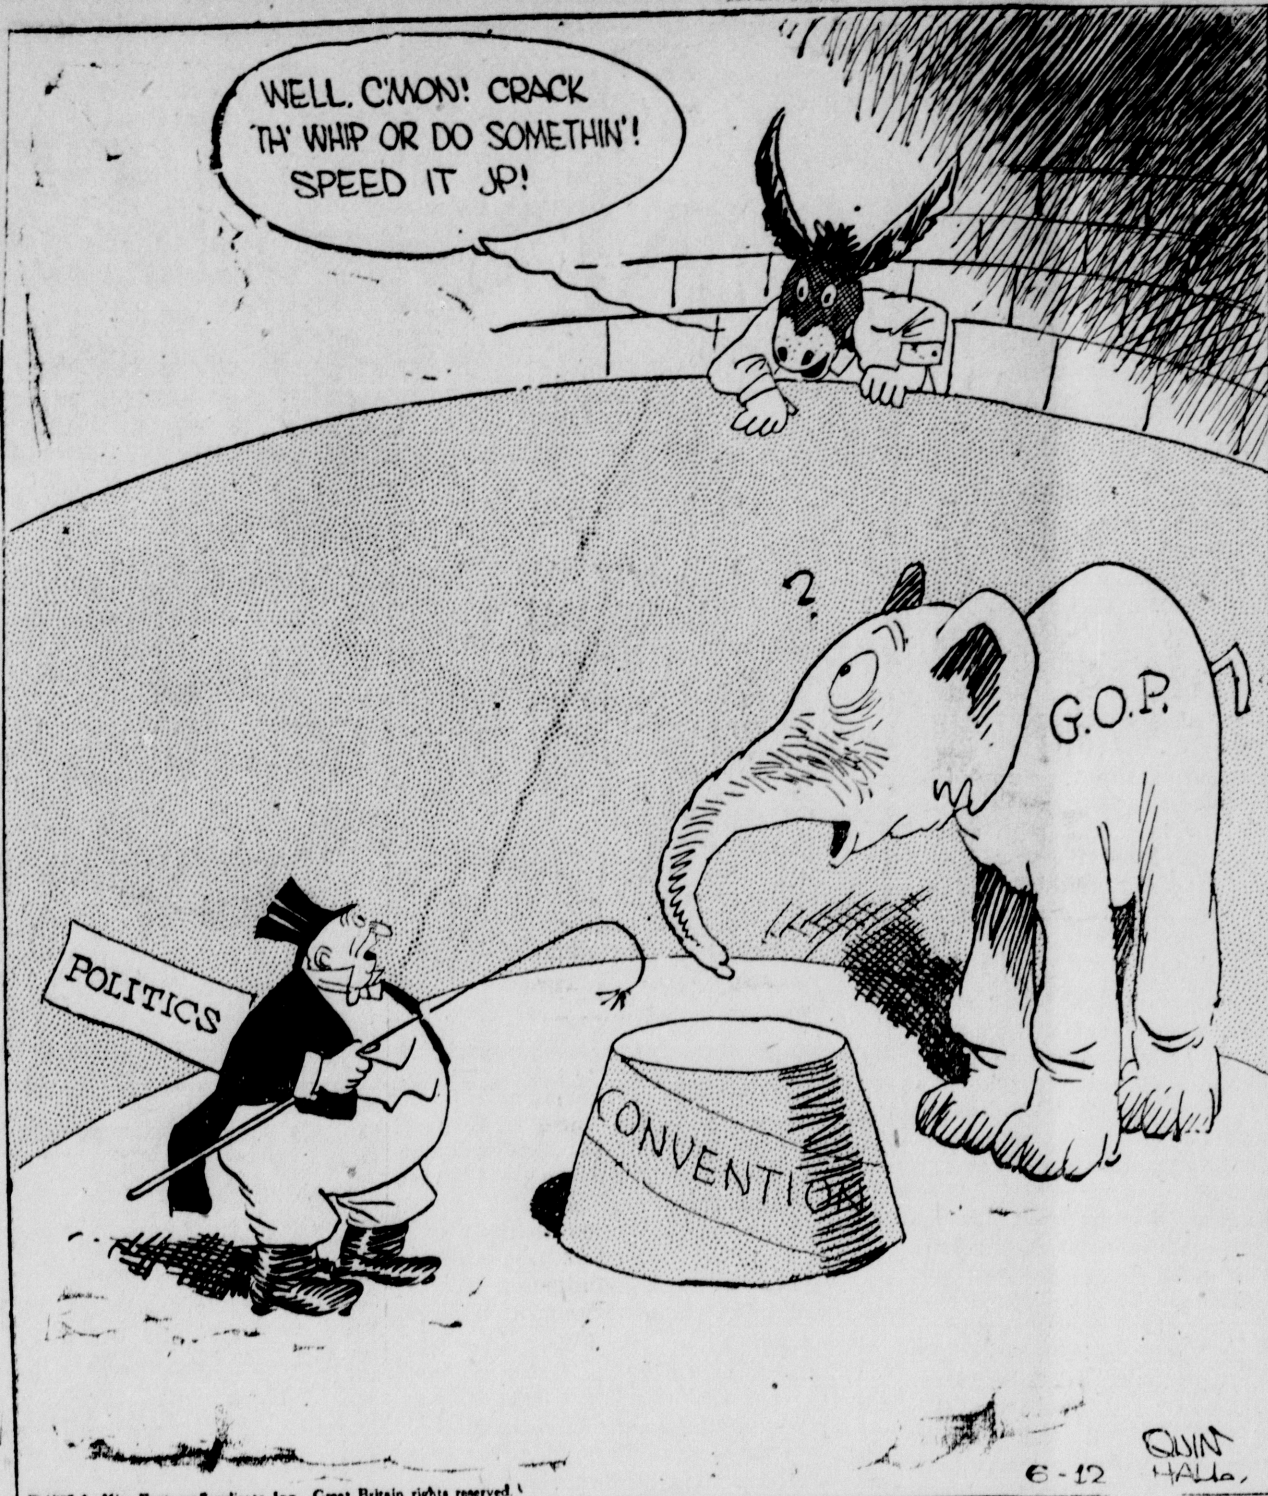

Monday's Session
I. C. USE FLY-TOX

Mosquitoes Easily Killed With Fly-Tox

In one minute all the mosquitoes in a room can be killed. Simply take a FLY-TOX Hand Sprayer, fill with FLY-TOX and fill the upper half of the room with the fine atomized spray. It will slowly settle to the floor killing all insects in the room. Spray the ceiling, hangings and closets where the mosquitoes hide, and also spray on the screens. FLY-TOX will not stain the walls, draperies or the most delicate fabrics. It has a pleasing fragrance, is absolutely harmless to people but sure death to insects. Does not matter whether windows and doors are open or closed. FLY-TOX is the product developed at the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Every bottle guaranteed.
